A BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS INFORMATION SERVICE

JULIAN HENNEY

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

THE BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT

PREFACE

The plan for a cooperative index, order list and catalog covering the latest material relating to public affairs has continued to develop until the fourth annual volume of Public Affairs Information Service Bulletin is now issued. This volume includes the contents of the weekly issues of the Bulletin published during the fiscal year from October 1, 1917, to September 30, 1918, also additional periodical references, author entries for items having more than one subject or analytic, and the latest information appended to many entries in the last editorial revision.

Special emphasis is placed upon the listing of fugitive and irregular publications. The Service is on the mailing list of hundreds of societies and organizations whose proceedings are analyzed in the Bulletin. The contents of new books in this field are analyzed, thus making it unnecessary for libraries to have this work duplicated in the card catalog. The Service is on the mailing list of approximately three hundred periodicals not indexed elsewhere, which include trade journals, publications issued by civic organizations, chambers of commerce, commercial clubs, municipalities, etc. New government publications, including the Official Bulletin, Federal Reserve Bulletin, War Trade Board Journal, Vocational Summary, etc., have been regularly examined. Articles especially pertinent to our field, but which are indexed also by the other Wilson publications, are occasionally included.

A cursory glance at the subjects covered in the 1918 volume will show the trend of thought and discussion during the past year. Present problems and "after the war" problem have been treated by specialists in the different fields.

So many new subjects have arisen, that it has been difficult to place entries permanently and satisfactorily. It is hoped that the cross references will make every entry easily available to the user.

It may be helpful to explain why the sub-headings, Laws and Legislation have both been used. The former has been used when the actual text of the law is given, the latter, when the article contains merely a discussion of the law or laws.

Attention is invited to the list of typewritten material, including both bibliographies and digests, to be found in the last pages of the Annual. Copies of any material desired may be obtained on application to the Service.

In spite of a reduced staff and increased expenses, it has been possible to increase the size of the annual volume approximately seventy-five pages over the 1917 Annual and one hundred and seventy-five pages over the 1915 and 1916 Annuals. This annual volume is printed on thin paper in order to comply with the requirements of the War Industries Board.

The editor wishes to express her appreciation to the cooperators and subscribers, and to the Advisory Committee for their cooperation thruout the year.

Thanks are also due the members of The H. W. Wilson Company, who always cooperate gladly with the staff of the P. A. I. S., when advice and suggestions are sought.

L. H.

October 1, 1918.

Professor Leon Whipple was dismissed from the University of Virginia for unpatriotic and disloyal utterances in an address on The meaning of pacifism, on Nov. 20, 1917.

President Lowell of Harvard university, in his 1917 annual report, upholds the right of the professor to absolute freedom of speech in classes and elsewhere on his own special subject, but holds that the university has a right to limit his freedom of speech in classes upon other subjects than the one he is supposed to be an authority on. He claims that students have a right not to be forced to listen to remarks offensive or injurious to them on subjects on which the professor is not a master, a right which the teacher is bound to respect.

Australia—Motor industry. H. A. Treat. Commerce Repts no 197 p 708-9 Ag 22 '18

Automobile manufacturers will take up war work by transforming their plants into factories for the production of munitions, engines, flying machines and other urgently needed devices, as the result of a conference held in Washington, D. C., Nov. 2, 1917. The production of pleasure cars will be largely cut in favor of war necessities. A committee has been appointed to determine a scheme for governmental use of the automobile plants and to work out a plan for the proportion of work to be done for the government and for private purposes.

Ballot, Rotary

- Calgary, Albert has adopted a novel form of ballot to be used at the municipal elections, which might be called the rotary ballot. At the last election when proportional representation was used for the first time, it was particularly felt that unintentional discrimination was made against the man who happened to have a name beginning with a letter well down the alphabet. The ballot in future will partake of the form of a wagon wheel with the names of the candidates printed between the spokes. The numbers of the candidates will be marked at the spoke and thus the returning officer can at a glance pick them out without having as in the old form to run his eye up and down the paper for each number. The names will be arranged indiscriminately and the instructions will be printed at the top. F '18

Chaplains, Municipal

Ordinances

Denver, Colo.—City council has passed an ordinance which authorizes the appointment of a city chaplain and provides for compensation from the city emergency fund. His duties will be to aid, assist and encourage unfortunate persons and those in distress, to visit all city and county penal and other institutions and minister to the inmates, and to recommend for clemency any persons confined or cared for, where such action appears to be for the best interest of the community. The work of the chaplain is non-sectarian and non-denominational. My 29 '18

New Jersey—Gov. Edge has presented the following suggestions to the new state board of charities for the creation of sub-divisions: a bureau of medicine and psychiatry, to include all medical directors of the state institutions; a bureau of labor and agriculture to include all wardens and superintendents, as well as agricultural experts, shop foremen, and other institutional officials; a bureau of admissions, deaths, discharges and paroles to supervise all statistics; a bureau of education and occupational industries, to include all teachers, instructors, chaplains and other similar officers of state institutions. For the executive organization of the department a commissioner and deputy commissioner of charities are suggested. Mr 21 '18

Governors' messages, 1918

South Carolina—Gov. Manning reviews the work of the state board of charities and corrections created three years ago and states that, to his mind, no governor and no legislature can rightly organize and direct public charities without the aid of such an educational and advisory agency as the state board of charities and corrections.

Victoria—Bill providing that the powers conferred on the court by section 68 of the marriage act of 1915, shall extend and apply to any case where the court, on hearing the application by the next friend of an infant alleging that the father, mother, or guardian of the infant has been guilty of adultery, habitual intemperance, or other misconduct, is satisfied that such misconduct disentitles him or her to continue to have the custody of the child. Makes it possible for friend of relatives of infant to have child properly looked after. Reason for introduction of bill was the occurrence of cases in which soldiers had gone to the front leaving wives and children behind and the wives were leading meretricious lives. Australia—Act amending law of 1903 by providing that children should follow the assumed nationality of their parents. Bill also tightens up safeguards respecting application for naturalization. Bill requires applicant for naturalization not merely to take ordinary oath of allegiance but also to specifically renounce allegiance to country of birth. Provision is directed mainly against recent declaration of principles by Germany that Germans becoming naturalized do not renounce German citizenship. (Assented to S 24 '17).

The article discusses the suggestion of the American institute of social service for the establishment of an International university students exchange bureau, whereby students might be enabled to take one year of their course in a foreign university. The plan would be useful in preparing men for diplomatic service, for foreign commerce, by giving them an insight into foreign life and languages. It would also tend to create a better understanding between the nations that would greatly further international good will.

Kentucky—Gov. Stanley recommends an appropriation to cover expenses of the members of the state council of defense in the performance of their necessary duties.

Montana—Gov. Stewart recommends that the state council of defense be made a legal entity and vested with legal authority, and that an appropriation be made to enable the council to conduct future activities. The appropriation should cover the past indebtedness of the council to various state department funds from which it borrowed money.

South Carolina—Gov. Manning reviews the efficient work of the state council of defense and recommends full provision for its increasingly important war work.

Periodicals

Connecticut Bulletin is regularly published bi-weekly for circulation among members of the Connecticut state council of defense organization.

Publications

Iowa War Bulletin is the official bulletin of the Iowa state council of defense. The council seeks thru it to further the organization of men and materials of the commonwealth on a war basis; to uphold the federal and state governments and generally serve the cause of the nation in the war on Germany.

Delivery systems, Cooperative

California—In a number of cities merchants have established cooperative delivery systems. Under the common plan the city is divided into districts, one delivery wagon covering the territory in a single district. All goods are sent to a central station, thence to various district headquarters and from there to purchasers. Deliveries are made on regular schedule, only a specified number a day. Special deliveries are not allowed. The cost per delivery varies from 5c in cities of from 1,000 to 3,000 population to 12c and 15c in cities of from 20,000 to 40,000 population. Cities in which the cooperative system is in effect are Stockton, Santa Rosa, Watsonville, Redwood City, Whittier, Palo Alto, San José and Sacramento. My '18

Purpose of this paper is to ascertain what should be the precise and definite aims of a school or college of education within a university, especially a state university considered as the head of a modern democratic school system; what should be the essential equipment, both physical and instructional, of such a school or college, whereby it may reasonably hope to achieve those aims; whether observation schools, practical work in schools and experimental schools are essential adjuncts to such schools or colleges, and, if so, what are the best practical methods for obtaining experience in observation, practice in teaching, and the scientific spirit in investigation as part of student training.

United States employment service, on August 1, 1918, took over the supplying of war industries with common labor. All independent recruiting of common labor by manufacturers having a payroll of more than one hundred men has been diverted to the new federal employment service. The restrictions will as soon as possible be applied also to skilled labor. The recruiting of common labor thru the Service does not apply in the following cases: Labor which is not directly or indirectly solicited; labor for the railroads; farm labor, to be recruited in accordance with existing arrangements with the department of agriculture; labor for non-war work; labor for establishments whose maximum force does not exceed one hundred. The plans of recruiting are so arranged that any community will be protected from being drained of labor.

The commission went to France to ascertain how American resources might best be made available for the reconstruction of the devastated regions, and with a hope of furthering Franco-American trade relations. It endeavored, during a rapid survey of France, to obtain as clear a picture of the conditions affecting the regions in question and our relations with France as was possible under war conditions.

Governors' messages, 1918

Kentucky—Gov. Stanley recommends a modification of the game laws so as to permit the taking of food fish from boundary streams, by seines and nets. He suggests proper regulation of the use and mesh of seines and nets so as to prevent the taking of unmarketable or immature fish.

Maryland—Gov. Harrington reviews the accomplishments of the conservation commission and promotion of the oyster, fish and crab industry.

New Jersey—Gov. Edge recommends state control of the fisheries industries, in order that consumers may buy fish under state supervision and at cost plus only the actual expense of catching and handling.

InvestigationsReports

New Jersey—Commission appointed to investigate the high cost of living by the 1917 legislature made an investigation of the sea food industry of the state and presented a report to the 1918 legislature. The report was not printed but its recommendations were embodied in a bill which after some modifications became chapter 143 of the laws of 1918. The bill creates a state board of fisheries and regulates fishing with fish pound nets.

International free trade league has been formed by Kenneth B. Elliman, with the cooperation of Henri Lambert of Belgium, Yves Guyot of France, and others. The organization differs from the present American free trade league inasmuch as it will stand for absolute free trade, whereas the executive committee of the former organization has declared for a tariff for revenue only. The new organization is intended to make an active international campaign for free trade in anticipation of peace negotiations. K. B. Elliman, 38 St Botolph st, Boston.

United States circuit court of appeals on Nov. 2, 1917, sustained the postmaster general in excluding the August issue of the Masses from the mails; held that the magazine contained matter that was forbidden to be mailed under the espionage act, and that it was intended to obstruct the operation of the recruiting service of the United States. The decision clears the way for any criminal action the department of justice may wish to take against publishers of periodicals containing offensive matter similar to that which appeared in the Masses.

Legislation

South Australia—Act providing that future tradesmen shall be properly indentured, shall serve a full period of practical training in a workshop, and shall receive, in addition, under competent teachers in well-equipped classrooms, a knowledge of the history and principles of their craft. Employers must allow time off and state will pay all fees for technical instruction. Apprentices are required to give up a part of their own time during a period of forty weeks in each year. Advisory apprentices board is created and trade committees for each of the skilled trades will be appointed. (Passed Council O 24 Assembly N 9 '17)

South Carolina—Gov. Manning recommends that adequate appropriations be made for carrying on the work of suppressing and treating infectious diseases, such as diphtheria, rabies, typhoid fever, cerebro-spinal meningitis, with serums kept by the state board of health. He believes that the reason for the extremely small death rate from diphtheria in the state is due to the fact that diphtheria antitoxin can be obtained free by anybody.

Associations

Society for the promotion of the federation of nations has been incorporated under the laws of the state of California. Its object is to devise ways and means whereby all nations in the Aryan race may be federated and thru a mutual understanding work collectively for the furtherance of progress and civilization. The society is not a peace organization, as it recognizes the necessity for war. It issues a small periodical called the Federator, which may be had for 50c a year. Legislation

Uruguay—Law was passed June 27, 1918 providing for construction by the government of municipal laundries in all cities of the republic. The buildings are to be completed in four years. The government is authorized to expend not more than $22,750 a year for the purpose. If the cities have the necessary funds, they may construct their own laundries, in conformity with government requirements. The buildings will, after completion, be turned over to the municipalities.

Governors' messages, 1918

- New Jersey—Gov. Edge emphasizes the imperative necessity of a brief, accurate legislative session. Business like law-making is the essence of business government.

Colorado—Legislature in special session, July, 1917, passed a state constabulary act, providing a semi-military force to take the place of the state guard while it is in national service; appropriated $50,000 to be used under the direction of the governor in carrying on the various phases of the work conducted under the supervision of the war council, including the mobilization and direction of the entire resources of the state to further production, conservation and distribution of the state's products to meet problems arising from the war; appropriated a sum to aid the fight against the alfalfa weevil, that production may be increased as a war measure; enacted a law making it an offense punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, for anyone to destroy food products to aid in keeping up prices.

Montana—Gov. Stewart called an extra session of the legislature for Feb. 14, 1918 to amend the state seed grain law, to aid the farmers in obtaining seed for spring sowing, and to consider the national prohibition amendment.

Wisconsin—Gov. Philipp called a special session of the legislature for Feb. 19, 1918, for the purpose of taking up the problem caused by the death of United States senator Paul O. Hustig, involving the choice of a successor and a test of strength between the loyal forces and the La Follette-pro-German organization.

Legislation

Uruguay—Government makes the use of metric units in all trade transactions obligatory. A decree of February 8, 1918 provides that merchants dealing in articles susceptible of being sold by weight or measure must adhere to the metric system and forbids them to sell by the piece or package or for a fixed sum of money even when the customer so demands. Where merchandise is sold in sealed wrapping, cans, boxes, packages, bottles, demijohns, etc. the net contents or weight contained must be indicated on the wrapping in an easily visible manner. In books of account and invoices the weight or measure of merchandise sold must be stated. Merchants dealing in articles of prime necessity must post in their places of business the daily prices of such articles, stating the weight or measure.

Decisions

Canada—Supreme court on July 19, 1918 upheld the constitutionality of the orders-in-council cancelling the exemptions from military service held by certain married men. The point had been raised that only an act of Parliament could make this change, and the habeas corpus was invoked to prevent the sending of the conscripted men overseas.

United States district court at Los Angeles held Nov. 5, 1917, that conscripts have the right to appeal to the civil courts from decisions of local exemption boards, and that the courts have the right to pass upon these decisions. The decision makes it possible for conscripts to apply for writs of habeas corpus.

Governor's message, 1917

Philippine Islands—Gov.-general Harrison recommends liberal appropriations for the maintenance of the national guard.

Governors' messages, 1918

Massachusetts—Gov. McCall recommends that the state guard, organized for home defense, have the full status of militia until such time as the national guard is returned to the service of the state.

Montana—Gov. Stewart recommends that the home guard be given legal status and its rights, authority and scope of its activity defined and that the organization and its members be made responsible officers of the state with a corresponding obligation as such.

New Jersey—Gov. Edge recommends legislation designed to extend state recognition of the home guard organizations of the state.

New York (state)—Gov. Whitman reviews the work of organizing the New York guard to take the place of the national guard for the duration of the war. Troops of the guard, fully equipped and armed, have replaced the guard on all state buildings and canals and the New York city water supply. It has been made possible to place units in many counties which had not heretofore maintained any.

South Carolina—Gov. Manning states that a regiment of state troops has been organized and that the legislature must provide for their equipment and support. The military code should be amended so as to make regulations governing these troops and otherwise to conform to the national defense act. Such troops are subject to the call of the governor as commander-in-chief of the state's forces.

 - San Francisco, Cal.—Federal milk commission, state food administration and the milk distributors of the city have worked out a plan for the division of the city into zones for the delivery of milk. Only two companies will be allowed to distribute milk in each zone, the purpose being to eliminate the expense caused by duplication of delivery routes. Each distributor may dispose of as much milk as formerly but no more. It is estimated that the savings effected will amount to 2½ cents a quart, thus reducing the cost to the consumer Ap 26 '18

Valuation
Decisions

Utah—Proper valuation of mineral lands for taxation was ordered by the supreme court of Utah on Jan. 3, 1918. The assessor of Carbon county has been valuing coal lands at $50 an acre, although some have been sold at $10,000 an acre. The court finds this practice to be in violation of the constitution and laws of the state and orders a better assessment for 1918. However, it also declares that the state cannot collect the payments evaded in past years. The increased assessments will bring in $600,000 additional from Carbon county during the current year.

Return loads

Akron, O.—Return loads bureau is organized. Akron [O.] Chamber Commerce Official Pub 5:3 Je '18

Merchants' association of New York city called a conference on June 4, 1918, to discuss measures of expediting the shipment of goods by motor trucks thru the return loads bureau system. Representatives were present from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and the District of Columbia. The return loads system was declared to be of great help in saving expense on motor truck deliveries at long distances, and in the conservation of railroad transportation.

Municipal elections

Calgary, Alberta has adopted a novel form of ballot to be used at the municipal elections, which might be called the rotary ballot. At the last election when proportional representation was used for the first time, it was particularly felt that unintentional discrimination was made against the man who happened to have a name beginning with a letter well down in the alphabet. The ballot in future will partake of the form of a wagon wheel with the names of the candidates printed between the spokes. The numbers of the candidates will be marked at the spoke and thus the returning officer can at a glance pick them out without having as in the old form to run his eye up and down the paper for each number. The names will be arranged indiscriminately and the instructions will be printed at the top. F '18

Dayton bureau of municipal research, established five years ago, has been discontinued for lack of funds. The board of directors found that owing to manifold financial appeals at the present time it would be unwise to undertake a money raising campaign to keep the bureau in operation. Fortunately, the purpose for which the bureau was established has been largely accomplished. The local city government under the commission manager form of government is conducting the affairs of the city with such a degree of efficiency that the demand for the bureau is not as imperative as it was a few years ago. Petersburg, Va.—Commission manager plan of government was adopted at the election on Aug. 7, 1917 under authority of the Virginia optional charter act of March 20, 1916. Owing to the great development of the city in population caused by the munitions industry at Hopewell and the location here of Camp Lee, the largest cantonment, an effort is being made to secure authority from the legislature for the new government to go into effect on Sept. 1, 1918 instead of Sept. 1, 1920 as would happen in the ordinary course of events.

The work itself is not by any means confined to the municipal law of Ontario. The laws of every province are treated separately, and then co-ordinated with the general theme, which is the Canadian municipal law as interpreted by Canadian and English decisions. The special value of the work is the editor's reviews of the court decisions, which are critical to the extent of taking exception to some of the decisions. A valuable lead to the reader is given in the index, which is not only complete, but so arranged that whatever phase of the municipal act one wants to look up, the index is there to guide him.

Describes the work of the Dayton bureau of research.

Dayton bureau of municipal research, established about five years ago, has been discontinued for lack of funds. The board of directors found that owing to manifold financial appeals at the present time it would be unwise to undertake a money raising campaign to keep the bureau in operation. Fortunately, the purpose for which the bureau was established has been largely accomplished. The local city government under the commission manager form of government is conducting the affairs of the city with such a degree of efficiency that the demand for the bureau is not as imperative as it was a few years ago. Ja 8 '18

Education

Surgeon-general Gorgas is to establish an army-nurse school with branches thruout the country, open to women between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-five. The chief plan of the school is to augment the supply of nurses on duty in the United States military and civilian hospitals. Applicants will be assigned to military hospitals for training and at the end of three years will receive a diploma entitling them to practice in any state. Should the war end before the three years are up, pupils will be eligible for admission to civil hospital training schools. Je 1 '18

Federal trade commission has instituted a system of monthly and weekly reports to be made by paper manufacturers in order to keep publishers constantly informed as to the amount of paper stocks on hand. It is hoped by this means to put newspaper publishers in a position to demand fair prices and make it impossible for producers to raise prices thru fear of a paper shortage. Investigations

Maryland—Gov. Harrington recommends that the advisory board of parole investigate the cases of all persons committed to the penitentiary and house of correction after they have served one-third of their term, whether or not a request or petition has been made for parole or pardon. He believes that some prisoners are entitled to parole or pardon, but do not secure it because they have no friends to intercede for them or they are ignorant of the law.

- New York (state)—Gov. Whitman expresses his satisfaction with the state police which was organized in June, 1917 after an investigation of the Pennsylvania constabulary and the Canadian mounted police systems. He recommends that the legislature act upon the suggestion of the superintendent of state police for the organization of a detached post troop, of forty-five troopers, three to be stationed at each post with a radius of twenty-five miles. By this method every citizen would be within twenty miles of some post and by the use of motor cycles the troops could render quick service.

This work deals with one of the most important of those independent party movements in the South after the Civil war that did so much to advance the cause of democracy in that section. It traces the rise of the Readjuster party in Virginia from the time of its formation until its final merging with the Republicans and loss of control in the years from 1883 to 1885.

Conventions

National party at a convention in Chicago, March 7, 1918, adopted as the chief planks in its platform equal suffrage nation-wide prohibition and radical legislation favoring farmers and laborers. The party is pledged to work for immediate ratification of the federal prohibition amendment. Extension of the federal farm loan law is urged for the benefit of the farmers, while the labor planks of the platform call for limitation of immigration, shortening of working hours, government insurance, more rigorous inspection of factories and other working places, and adequate enforcement of child labor laws. It also advocated that the government forbid interstate shipments of articles made by children, women employed more than eight hours a day or six days a week, convicts under private contract, or persons employed in uninspected factories or mines. Abolition of contract prices on labor and the establishment of the honor system in prisons is advocated. The platform urges abolition of secret diplomacy, freedom of the seas, and abolition of discriminatory or prohibitive tariffs or taxes up on trade or commerce. Other conditions advocated are freedom of speech and of the press, short ballot in state and municipal elections, absent voting, public ownership of public utilities and the extension of the postal and parcel post systems.

Prohibition national convention met in Chicago on March 5, 1918 and debated the question of joining with the new National party. Compromises were discussed and proved more popular than mergence with the other party. A National dry federation composed of practically every prohibition society in the country was formed, under the presidency of William J. Bryan, to work for ratification of the prohibition amendment in states that vote on the question in November, 1918.

Elections

California—Anti-saloon measure has received enough signatures to go on the ballot to be voted on in November, 1918. It abolishes saloons and barrooms, forbids the sale of whiskey, brandy and other strong alcoholic drinks but allows sale of wines and beer containing less than 17 per cent alcohol, with meals at restaurants and clubs. Such sale may take place only between noon and midnight. The initiative petition for the measure has 125,000 signatures, about 50,000 more than the law requires. Ja 4 '18

Decisions

Illinois—United States supreme court on Jan. 14, 1918, upheld the Illinois 2-cent passenger fare law. The Illinois central railroad and twenty-eight other roads had sought to have the Public utilities commission suspend the law in favor of a rate not exceeding 2.4 cents. The court held that the commission had exceeded its authority.

New York (state)—Gov. Whitman discusses the widespread discontent among the rural communities due to the passage of the so-called township law which provides for the consolidation of certain rural schools. He recommends an amendment to the law, which will still allow the citizens of a district to vote on the amount of money to be expended for school purposes, instead of leaving the financial question to be decided by the town board of education. He considers that the law has failed to accomplish properly the purpose for which it was enacted.

Saloons

Chicago, Ill.—Compulsory Sunday closing of saloons, the new federal tax, the drive of the prohibitionists, the failure of the anti-prohibitionists, the extensive sale of beer from wagons, and the mobilization of the national army are said to be the principal causes that have driven 1,100 saloons out of business, with a resultant loss to the city of $1,100,000 a year in revenue. The number of saloons on Nov. 1, 1915 was 7,152, on Nov. 22, 1917, the number was approximately 5,916.

Schools of education

- * General educ. bd. Function and needs of schools of education in universities and colleges. E. A. Alderman. (Occasional pa. no. 4) 31p '17 61 Broadway, N.Y.

The purpose of this paper is to ascertain what should be the precise and definite aims of a school or college of education within a university, especially a state university considered as the head of a modern democratic school system; what should be the essential equipment, both physical and instructional, of such a school or college, whereby it may reasonably hope to achieve those aims; whether observation schools, practical work in investigation as part of student training in schools, and experimental schools are essential adjuncts to such schools or colleges, and, if so, what are the best practical methods for obtaining experience in observation, practice in teaching, and the scientific spirit in investigation as part of student training. —Same. - The survey was a community enterprise. Its inception was the germinal idea of a few persons in the community. Representatives from eight organizations in Lawrence united to form a general committee for the purpose of making a survey. Its value has been demonstrated in the results already achieved. The creation of a board of public welfare, the enactment of an adequate housing ordinance, the securing of a supervision of the city milk supply, the support given by the board of education to the summer playground, are all outcomes of the movement. Of greater significance than these achievements is the spirit of community cooperation secured by the very method of the organization of the survey.

National war work council of the Y. M. C. A. plans the establishment of a soldiers' university in the huts of the association and elsewhere in the rear of the lines of the American army in France for the purpose of enabling soldiers to become more efficient while engaged in war and to prepare them for vocational usefulness after the war. The project contemplates elementary courses to familiarize the soldiers with the customs and institutions of the allied nations. Instructors will be secured from the Y. M. C. A. workers and experienced men in the army who will be loaned when not on duty. The university, which will constitute a component part of the American army will be officially known as the Department of education. Anson Phelps Stokes, secretary of Yale university, is to be director until another competent educator can be found to assume the directorship. Headquarters, 347 Madison av. N.Y.

Legislation

New South Wales—Act providing for issue by governor of Crown grants to public trustee of lands to be disposed of in pursuance of act. Public trustee is empowered to borrow money on such land and to make advances out of such money to voluntary workers associations for purchase of materials, construction of buildings and effecting improvements by voluntary labor on such land for homes for disabled soldiers and sailors and dependents. Houses so erected are forever exempted from any law relating to insolvency or bankruptcy and cannot be levied upon or seized under power of court. Rights of mortgages under mortgages given prior to passing of act or given hereafter with approval of public trustee are protected (Passed both Houses '17)

Legislation

South Australia—Act amending existing law so that returned soldiers who are curable mental cases need not go thru the same procedure as ordinary civilian cases. The state automatically takes control of mental cases and such defective returned soldiers and sailors will be received into an approved home set aside exclusively. Hopeless cases may be admitted to hospital. (Passed Assembly O 4 Council O 30 '17)

England—Blind soldiers are being reeducated at St Dunstan' hostel for blinded soldiers and sailors, Regent's Park, London. The occupations taught include massage, shorthand, telephone operating, boot repairing, mat making, basketry, joinery, poultry, farming and market gardening. At present there are 354 inmates but the number will be doubled. The foreman of each department is a seeing man, but the instruction is given chiefly by blind teachers. The men are taught to play as well as work, in order that they may be brought back to as nearly a normal position in life as possible. Ja 21 '18

Soldiers, Returned—Land settlement—ContinuedLegislation

New South Wales—Act providing that parents or friends of soldiers at the front may apply for blocks of land in order that same may be kept in working order until soldiers return. An advance of £500 may be made to each soldier, the state reserving the right to see that money is properly spent and land wisely utilized. Men are selected by committee for class of land they may be most suited, and soldiers are settled as much as possible in their own district. Act applies to Commonwealth and Dominion soldiers, to Australian soldiers who may have enlisted in England and been honorably discharged, and to soldiers who have been in camp and been injured there. British soldiers may be brought within scope of the measure by regulation. Soldiers desiring to purchase land privately will be provided with services of expert but minister must be satisfied as to improvements before any advance is made. (Passed Council O 26 '17)

South Carolina—Gov. Manning recommends that legislation be enacted which will prevent duplication, over-lapping and possible future conflict in the agricultural work carried on by the state college of agriculture and the department of agriculture, commerce and industry. He believes that each should have its own particular phase of the work and not go beyond that.

South Carolina—Gov. Manning reviews the work of the state board of charities and corrections created three years ago and states that, to his mind, no governor and no legislature can rightly organize and direct public charities without the aid of such an educational and advisory agency as the state board of charities and corrections

- Maryland—Gov. Harrington gives a brief summary of the state's finances in his message.
- Massachusetts—Gov. McCall urges the legislature to cut out all unnecessary expenses and to conserve every resource of the commonwealth, but cautions against decreasing the efficiency of the government.
- New Jersey—Gov. Edge recommends that all revenue-earning departments, boards, commissions and institutions, instead of applying their revenue to maintenance or other expenses, shall turn the money into the state treasury, where it will be checked out when and for such purposes only as appropriations authorized in the usual way may provide. He reports the treasury as being in a prosperous condition, with a net balance, at the end of the fiscal year October, 1917, of $2,458,541.28.
- New Jersey—Gov. Edge recommends that certain fees be charged for work done, such as special engineering service, inspection of boilers, licensing of engineers and firemen, etc.
- New Jersey—Gov. Edge suggests that the fiscal year be changed so that it will begin on July first instead of on November first. He thinks that the executive and legislators could provide for a budget with better knowledge of conditions of the money were to be expended within a short time after the close of the average legislative session. The anomaly of the legislators providing for the expenses of the state government during a period when they are not in charge of the government, would be, to a large extent, avoided.

Investigations

Governors' messages, 1918

New Jersey.—Gov. Edge recommends that legislation be enacted based upon the reports submitted by the commissions to investigate the penal and correctional institutions and institutions other than penal and correctional.

Investigations

New Jersey.—Legislature of 1917 authorized a commission to investigate the state institutions which come under the supervision of the department of charities and corrections, other than penal, reformatory and correctional institutions, and make a report thereon to the next legislature. Special attention was to be given to ways and means of centralizing authority or control over all such institutions, the transfer of inmates and all other questions of betterment and improvement.

SterilizationDecisions

Michigan—Supreme court has declared unconstitutional the law providing for the sterilization of mental defectives or insane persons maintained wholly or in part by public expense in public institutions. The court held against the law because it arbitrarily selected for sterilization those confined in institutions, leaving immune from its operation all others to whom the reason for the legislative remedy is normally and equally, at least, applicable. The court did not pass upon the constitutionality of the principle of sterilization. Ag 23 '18

Teachers, Married

Detroit, Mich.—Board of education has repealed the regulation against the eligibility of married women. The marriage of any woman teacher has always constituted a resignation, but under the repeal of the regulation, married women may now be recommended to the board for appointment at the discretion of the superintendent of public schools. It is understood by the board that single women are to be given the preference and that married women will be appointed only when there is a shortage of single women. Women whose husbands are in military service will be considered as single. O 27 '17

American trade acceptance council at its meeting in New York, Nov. 23, 1917, discussed all phases of the trade acceptance.

A striking unanimity of sentiment prevailed regarding the desirability of applying the trade acceptance to all classes of transactions of buying and selling merchandise. The advantages of utilizing the facilities offered by the federal reserve system were emphasized. The extension of the acceptance plan to foreign trade was also urged, as a probable aid in building up overseas trade. A resolution was adopted recommending the use of the acceptance as a means of strengthening the financial system, protecting commerce and industry, and aiding the government in its great struggle for human liberty and freedom. L. E. Pierson, chm., Irving national bank, N.Y.

Governors' messages, 1918

Montana—Gov. Stewart recommends that action be taken to suspend the operation of statutes of limitation against men in the service during the time of their service and for a reasonable time after discharge, and to impose a moratorium in their behalf.

New Jersey—Gov. Edge recommends an act in the nature of a moratorium for New Jersey soldiers and more especially safeguarding all of the civil rights and privileges of the soldier in order that none may be forfeited by reason of his being in the military service.

New York (state)—Gov. Whitman recommends the passage of an act staying civil proceedings against soldiers and sailors in the federal service.

Rhode Island—Gov. Beekman recommends legislation which will protect from loss and injury the rights of men in service from lawsuits and other legal proceedings; also recommends that the legislature consult with the judiciary committees of states that have already passed such legislation and examine carefully the proposed act of Congress on the matter, in order that the law may be uniform with others passed.

South Carolina—Gov. Manning recommends that a law be passed similar to the federal law to the end that the families of men in the service may not be discriminated against.

Governors' messages, 1918

New York (state)—Gov. Whitman strongly urges conservation of the water power of the state and heartily endorses the recommendations of the committee which investigated the question, their report recommending that the constitution be amended so as to take from the legislature the power to grant away by private bills the water power of the state; that the law providing for river regulation by storage reservoirs be repealed; that appropriate legislation be enacted to enable the state to develop undeveloped water powers thru a commission appointed by the governor and to market the power thus developed; that legislation be enacted authorizing the superintendent of public works, with the approval of the canal board, to dispose for proper returns by lease, of surplus water power created as a result of the construction of the barge canals.

Investigations

New York (state)—Hydro electric power commission has been proposed by the 1918 legislature to investigate costs and methods of development, transformation, transmission and distribution of the water powers of the state, formulate a definite and fixed policy of utilizing same, including canals, prepare and recommend proper legislation for carrying out such plan and urge upon the federal government proper recognition of the state's inherent right to full control of the boundary waters. $100,000 to be appropriated.

Governors' messages, 1918

- Maryland—Gov. Harrington urges careful consideration by the legislature of the question of woman suffrage; personally, he is against it, on the ground of the harmful effect it might have on the women themselves. He says that at least they are entitled to have the verdict of the citizens upon the subject.
- New York (state)—Gov. Whitman recommends prompt provision for allowing the women citizens to vote at the spring elections. He states that women should be given an opportunity to enroll in political parties and take part in the primaries in the fall.
- South Carolina—Gov. Manning believes that the question of woman suffrage is one that should be under the jurisdiction of the state and not the federal government; holds that the right of the state to regulate suffrage is a fundamental principle of local self-government, a right which the state should reserve to herself.

Governor's messages, 1918

- Kentucky—Gov. Stanley reviews the operation of the workmen's compensation act and points out its great success. He further calls attention to the fact that the department is wholly self-supporting. The decrease in the cost of litigation as a result of the establishment of the department, is approximately $75,000 a year.
- New Jersey—Gov. Edge thinks that the compensation bureau should be given power to decide disputes; also that there should be further legislation with reference to the disposition of compensation in the case of deaths of persons without dependents or known beneficiaries.
